Subject: Final Full-White Papers

Dear Committee members—

Here are the full-white papers that the QEP Topic Selection Committee reviewed.

#1 and #3 directly relate to undergraduate research. #1 approaches undergraduate research from an honors perspective, and #3 broadens the concept to include creative activities.

When the QEP Topic Selection Committee scored these papers, the highest score went to paper #3, although the committee felt that #1 had a number of good ideas that could be incorporated into our QEP.

Paper #2 is on reading and writing in the general education curriculum. Although that topic was not chosen as the QEP, the paper offers good insights on critical thinking.

WARNING: Let's not get too caught up in these proposals right now. Let's first find out how other institutions handle undergraduate research. We can come back to these white papers & their suggestions in the future.

Thanks again for your involvement with this endeavor!
